

4th December - Panda

For many years lots of scientists thought that pandas were related to raccoons and not bears, but have now decided that these large animals look just like bears because they are in fact.....bears! A newborn panda is tiny and weighs about the same as a Mars Bar. Also when first born pandas are pink all over! It takes some time for the babies' skin to turn grey where black fur will eventually grow.